

Corporate Housing Provider, Suite Home Chicago, Commits To Fighting Hunger

Leading Corporate Housing Provider Partners With National Non-Profit Move For Hunger

Chicago, Illinois (PRWEB) May 31, 2016 -- Suite Home Chicago, a leading corporate housing provider headquartered in the Windy City, has partnered with the national non-profit, Move For Hunger, to demonstrate their commitment to fighting hunger. Nearly 50 million Americans are affected by food insecurity, including 1 in 5 children. As a proud partner of Move For Hunger, guests at Suite Home Chicago locations have the opportunity to change these staggering statistics by donating their unopened, non-perishable food items upon departure. These year-round donations are distributed directly to local food banks in need, helping fight hunger on a broad scale in the Chicagoland area and across the United States.

“We are thrilled to have Suite Home Chicago join us in the fight against hunger,” says Adam Lowy, Executive Director of Move For Hunger. “With such devastating hunger statistics at both the local and national level, their efforts will provide crucial support to our mission to feed the hungry.”

“Since our founding a decade ago, Suite Home Chicago has been dedicated to the well-being of our community,” explains Sarah DiDavide, Suite Home Chicago Operations Manager. “Partnering with Move For Hunger was a natural fit; we can help reduce hunger by providing our guests with the opportunity to donate any remaining items upon departure. Our guests are thrilled to participate as well.”

Through the generous support of partners like Suite Home Chicago, Move For Hunger can continue to help the nearly 50 million Americans struggling to find their next meal.
